

Transforming today's business needs into long-term success

For many reasons, sometimes it's not possible for a business to operate with its best team in place. Maybe an unexpected resignation has left a sudden hole in your leadership group, or a change in direction has revealed a gap in skills and resources. Whatever the cause, Weiser Consulting® has the knowledge and experience to keep your organisation moving and improving.

Introducing our interim management and business services

With extensive business expertise in a range of industries, we have the ability to fill your management gaps – whenever and wherever they occur – quickly and efficiently, saving you money and time. From interim management to strategic business planning, the team at Weiser Consulting® offer an effective solution to short and medium term organisational needs while adding real value to your business. And unlike other management consultants that prepare plans based on external factors, we work alongside you as part of your team, taking your strategic plan off the shelf and into your hands.

Whether you need us for a week or a year, Weiser Consulting® is committed to bringing effective management to your business.

Sonya Weiser principal consultant

As the Principal Strategic Consultant of Weiser Consulting®, Sonya Weiser provides business consultancy and interim management services that draw on Sonya's experience and formal knowledge of corporate governance and business needs. Sonya's experience provides an impressive selection of core competencies across a diverse range of industries and can bring a wide range of capabilities into any organisation, in any capacity.

With this extensive practical knowledge and outstanding academic qualifications – including a Master of Business Administration from The University of Adelaide and Foundations of Directorship course with the Australian Institute of Company Directors – Sonya's management skills are well supported by her sound leadership capability, as shown through her position as President of Women in Innovation and Technology (SA), active membership of the Institute of Management Consultants and involvement in industry groups such as the Women influencing Defence and Resources Industries (WiDRI) Community of Practice.

From technology management to fundamental business strategy, Weiser Consulting® supports your business needs today, and transforms them into success for tomorrow.
